

Independence Day

Independence Day is a special holiday in Israel. Israelis celebrate their country's independence on this day. It was on May 14th, 1948, that Israel became an independent country.

People in Israel have parades, listen to music, and watch fireworks on Independence Day. As a nation, they celebrate the people who made it happen and remember the hard work that went into it. Israelis celebrate their country's independence on this important day, and it's a great time for everyone to get together!

Match the words to their meanings:

- | | |
|-----------------|---|
| 1. special | a. freedom |
| 2. celebrate | b. with a great deal of effort |
| 3. independence | c. a country and its people |
| 4. fireworks | d. different from what is usual |
| 5. nation | e. a display of light |
| 6. remember | f. to notice or honor a day |
| 7. hard | g. to be able to bring back a piece of information into your mind |

5 yes/no questions related to the text:

1. Is Independence Day a special holiday in Israel?
2. Did Israel become an independent country on May 14th, 1949?
3. Do people in Israel celebrate Independence Day with parades, music, and fireworks?
4. Do Israelis remember who made their country's independence by having barbeques?
5. Is Independence Day a good time for everyone to get together in Israel?

Play a game <https://view.genial.ly/64379ed9f34228001171f854>

5 ways to celebrate Israel's Independence Day

Attend a street party or parade: On Independence Day, many Israeli cities host street parties and parades, with live music, food, and festive decorations. It's a great way to immerse yourself in the festive atmosphere and celebrate with the locals.

Watch the fireworks: Fireworks are a big part of Israel's Independence Day celebrations, and you can find displays all over the country. One of the most popular spots to watch the fireworks is in Jerusalem, where the Old City provides a beautiful backdrop.

Have a BBQ: Israel's Independence Day falls during the spring, which means the weather is usually pleasant and perfect for an outdoor BBQ. Many families and groups of friends get together for a day of grilling and relaxation.

Visit a national park: Israel has many beautiful national parks that are perfect for a day trip on Independence Day. Some popular options include Masada, Ein Gedi, and Caesarea National Park.

Fly an Israeli flag: On Independence Day, many Israelis display the national flag outside their homes or on their cars. It's a great way to show your support for the country and participate in national celebrations.

5 questions related to the fun things to do on Israel's Independence Day:

1. What are some popular activities that take place during Israel's Independence Day celebrations?
2. Where are some of the best places to watch fireworks on Independence Day in Israel?
3. What is a popular way to celebrate Independence Day in Israel with family and friends?
4. Name a few national parks in Israel that are popular destinations for Independence Day day trips.
5. Why do many Israelis display the national flag on Independence Day?