

Tu B'Shvat

In winter's quiet, we celebrate Tu B'Shvat,
A special time for trees, imagine that!

It's like a birthday for the trees so tall,
They have stories to tell, one and all.

From almond blossoms to fruits so yummy,
They dance and sway, oh, it's so funny!

Tu B'Shvat's like a magic, green light,
A celebration under the moon so bright.

The trees say thanks for the soil they're in,
And promise to grow, it's a happy din.

So let's be glad for this festival cheer,
Listen to the leaves, it's all so clear.

Tu B'Shvat teaches about nature's song,
In the earth's harmony, we all belong.

Task 1

Discuss the following questions:

1. What is Tu B'Shvat?
2. How is Tu B'Shvat compared to a birthday?
3. What do the trees have to tell?
4. What kind of blossoms and fruits are mentioned in the text?
5. How do the trees celebrate Tu B'Shvat?
6. What do the trees promise to do?
7. What does Tu B'Shvat teach us about?.

Task 2

Ask your students to close their eyes and imagine that they are a tree. Have them think about how it feels to stand tall and strong, to have roots deep in the ground, and to sway with the wind. After a few moments, ask them to share their thoughts and feelings with the group.

Task 3

Write full sentences using the words.

1. celebrate/Tu B'Shvat/winter

---

2. special/time/trees

---

3. trees/stories/tell

---

4. Trees/dance/sway

---

5. Tu B'Shvat/celebration/fruit

---

6. happy/festival/cheer

---

Correct answers:

1. Tu B'Shvat is a celebration.
2. Tu B'Shvat is compared to a birthday for the trees.
3. The trees have stories to tell.
4. Almond blossoms and delicious fruits are mentioned in the text.
5. The trees dance and sway to celebrate Tu B'Shvat.
6. The trees promise to grow.
7. Tu B'Shvat teaches us about nature's song and our connection to the earth

