

The Festivals

Every year the festivals start,

Rosh Hashanah the first and Sukkot the last part.

Rosh Hashanah is sweet with apple and honey,

and sometimes from our grandparents we receive money.

We say sorry to our friends, and try to make amends,

and hope all is well when everything ends.

Yom Kippur is a special day, we try and pray for forgiveness that we might receive in any way.

Sukkot is my favourite, sleeping in huts,

I can eat whatever I want including nuts.

I build my four walls, and hang up coloured balls,

We have fun in the sun and also when night falls.

We shake the lulav and the etrog,

and we sleep in the sukkah with our pet dog.

So which festival do you like, to sit in your hut or ride your bike?

Do you prefer to eat something sweet, or sleep in a hut under a warm sheet?

Let me know girls and boys... give a shout and make a loud noise!!!

Wishing you all a very happy fall (autumn) and see you after it all. ☺

The Festivals

Answer the questions:

1. Which festival is first?

2. What do we eat on Rosh Hashanah?

3. What rhymes with 'friends'?

4. When do we try and pray?

5. Where can we sleep?

6. How many walls does my sukkah have?

7. What do we shake?

About you:

8. Do you like sleeping in a sukkah?

9. Which is your favourite festival?
